

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all, I express my gratitude to “Almighty” and it’s “Divine Destiny” who has made everything possible.

It is my pleasant duty that I must record my deep sense of thank and gratitude to all those who were associated with me and their collective efforts enabled me to compile this work.

It’s my privilege to express deep sense of regard and respect to my supervisor “Prof. P.K. Mishra” for giving me an opportunity to join his prestigious laboratory. I am highly obliged and thankful to him for providing me his illustrious guidance, encouragement and futuristic vision, which enabled me to develop a better understanding of the subject and leads to a successful completion.

I would like to acknowledge my sincere gratitude to “Dr. B Verma”(Associate Professor) “Prof. S.N. Upadhyay” (Emeritus Professor) and “Dr Pradeep Kumar” (Associate Professor) from Department of Chemical Engineering and Technology for their kind guidance and constant encouragement throughout the project work. Their supervision, loving and disciplined way of work helped me at every step to accomplish this work.

I extend my sincerest thanks to “Prof. V.L. Yadav” (Internal Supervisor, Department of Chemical Engineering & Technology) and “Prof P Maiti” (External Supervisor, School of Material Science) for their insightful advices and suggestions throughout the research.

My sincere thanks to all respected faculty members of the Department of Chemical Engineering & Technology for their constant inspiration and valuable suggestions. I am also thankful to the Chemical Department and Central Instrument Facility Center (CIFC) for providing me essential research facilities. I extend my thanks to Mr. Gopal Srivastava, Mr. S.K. Verma, Mr. R.C. Singh, Mr. Raj Bahadur, and other staffs for their support

I owe my sincerest thanks to my senior research scholar Dr. Deepika Kushwaha and Dr. Lata Kumari for their help they extended whenever I needed. It was also a great pleasure to work with my fellow lab mates Mr. Naresh Sethy, Ms. Bineeta, Mr. Satyansh, Mr. Vivek Kumar Pandey, and other colleagues, Mr. Shobit Dixit, for giving me their co-operative environment for work.

The sequence of acknowledgement would be incomplete without mentioning the love, care and sacrifice of my loving parents, who always stand with me and give me strength and encouragement during the pursuit of my career. I owe my gratitude to all of them.
