

Acknowledgement

A journey to desired destination on unknown track is more convenient when you are accompanied by your well-wishers and at the end you will naturally feel thankful to all of them. With the grace of Almighty and blessings of my parents and pedagogues, I have reached to the completion of this thesis. More precisely, the success of this thesis was ensured by the support of several people in several ways in different stages of the research. It is a matter of great privilege and profound respect for me to express my deep regards to my respected supervisor, Prof. Tanmoy Som, Indian Institute of Technology (BHU), Varanasi, for his guidance and encouragement. His constant support, wide experience, learned guidance, and stimulating discussion helped me significantly in completing the present work. His careful guidance shaped my understanding on the chosen field along with my research life.

Further, its my privilege to express my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. K.K. Shukla, Indian Institute of Technology (BHU) and to Prof. Rekha Srivastava, Indian Institute of Technology (BHU), for their valuable discussion and helping me at every stage of my research work. I am very much grateful to all faculty members, Department of Mathematical Sciences, Indian Institute of Technology (BHU) Varanasi, India and Prof. D.R. Sahu, Institute of Sciences, Banaras Hindu University Varanasi, India and Professor B.S. Choudhury, Indian Institute of Engineering, Science and Technology, West Bengal, India, for their valuable help and suggestions towards the completion of my research. I owe a lot to all my teachers who taught me Mathematics at any stage of my study.

I would like to thank my close friends, Dr. Lokesh Sharma, Dr. Hitesh, Dr. Savita Chandel, Dr. Piyush Singh, Dr. Ghanshyam Prasad, Dr. Shivam Srivastva, Mr. Pankaj Gautam, Mr.

Avinash Dixit and many more for their continued moral support, academic discussion, care, encouragement and making me to stay at Indian Institute of Technology (BHU). I would like to thank all the Ph.D. colleague of the Department. This acknowledgement would be incomplete if the name of great visionary Pt. Madan Mohan Malaviya is not mentioned, who made this divine center of knowledge. My Deepest regards to him.

I am grateful to acknowledge University Grant Commission (UGC), India and Ministry of Human Resource and Development, India for financial support to complete my Ph.D. Finally, I owe my family all my thanks for their deepest love, endless patience and continued support in the pursuit of my aspirations through all of the years of my study. More precisely, I thank to my brothers Mr. Rahul, Dr. Markandeya and sisters Mrs. Neelam, Mrs. Punam, Mrs. Rita for all their love and encouragement. The continuous support of my parents and parents in law helped me in all my pursuits. And most of all for my caring, supportive and encouraging husband Dr. Jai Prakash Tripathi.

Date: .28.12.18

Place: Varanasi

Vandana Tiwari
(Vandana Tiwari)