First of all, I express my sincere gratitude to my supervisors Dr. R. Manna and Prof. N. K. Mukhopadhyay whose untiring efforts, insistence for perfection, inspired me throughout this work. It gives me an immense pleasure to express my sincere thanks to Prof. G.V.S. Sastry, his blessings, constant encouragement and kind co-operation have brought up the dissertation in this shape.

I would like to express my cordial thanks to former heads Prof. G.V.S. Sastry, and Prof. R. K. Mandal, and present head Prof. N. K. Mukhopadhyay, for providing all necessary facilities to carry out the thesis work.

Besides my Supervisors, I would like to thank other members of RPEC: Prof. A. P. Harsha, Department of Mechanical Engineering and Dr. K. Chattopadhyay, Department of Metallurgical Engineering for their valuable comments and encouragement in each semester. I am also thankful to Prof. R. K. Mandal for his encouragement to learning and guidance for research. I would like to thanks to all the faculty members of the department, Departmental Research Committee (DRC) members, and Research Programme Evaluation Committee (RPEC) members. I am also thankful to Non-teaching staff members and all other persons directly and indirectly related to my research work.

I am highly obliged and sincerely thankful to Prof I. Samajdar, Indian Institute of Technology, Bombay, for extending OIM facility supported by Intensification of Research in High Priority Areas of DST, New Delhi and X-ray diffraction facility.

I am also thankful to Dr. Sanjeev Kumar, Mr. Manish K. Singh, Mr. Santhosh Kumar Alla, Mr. Yagnesh Shadangi , Mr. Vikas Shivam, Mr. Khemraj and all the colleagues of the department. I would like to give special thanks to Dr. Deepa Verma for her kind help and knowledge sharing during this research work.

I am also thankful to Department of Science and Technology (DST), Government of India for financial support under the project no. SR/S3/ME/0009/2010 (G) dated 14th July 2011.

The words are always less to acknowledge love and encouragement received from my parents, brothers, sister and all family members. Without their support and inspirations all this would never have been possible. I also wish to thank all my friends and the persons whose names have not been mentioned on this piece of paper for extending their cooperation directly or indirectly
